Chat

Jenny Groome -> All Participants: New England needs more space to click!

Charlie (she-her) Amiot -> All Participants: I just took a stab and clicked!

Jen Kirk -> All Participants: I love how fast the map fills up. Hi everyone!

Barbara Darrow -> All Participants: Barbara Darrow at Chicago Public Library is here

Brylynn Ellis -> All Participants: Hey everyone!

Jose Torres -> All Participants: Hello from DC

Deb Ahlers -> All Participants: Hi from Vermont! Deb

Kristina Claunch -> All Participants: Hi everyone!

James Jacobs -> All Participants: @Jenny you'd have to publish a map similar to the New Yorker's NY view of the US :-)

Jonathan Underwood -> All Participants: I am a first time participant.

Jen Kirk -> All Participants: Welcome, Jonathan!

Jenny Groome -> All Participants: Not continuous - but back to 1986! My first job out of college was support staff in FDLP library!

Brylynn Ellis -> All Participants: As an undergrad student I was in government documents and now I've taken over my predecessor

Mary Ellen Lomax-Bellare -> All Participants: hello from CT - newbie here

Jen Kirk -> All Participants: Hi, Mary Ellen!

Susan Ashby -> All Participants: 1st time FDL Conference Attendee here

Samantha Thorne -> All Participants: First time participant - I'm about 3 months in to being an FDLP coordinator

Jenny Groome -> All Participants: Alright Brylynn!

Jenny Groome -> All Participants: @James - well, why not?

Laurie Hall -> All Participants: reminder to mute your mics please!!!

Suzanne Horton -> All Participants: Other - Federal Academic Library (Military University)

Laura Gricius-West -> All Participants: But we like pointing fingers, er, arrows

Jesse Griffin -> All Participants: You've given them the power of the pointer!

Katie Salis -> All Participants: I am a first time participant and have been the point person for less than a year at a public library.

Jenny Groome -> All Participants: @Mary Ellen - Hi! I'm in CT too

Brylynn Ellis -> All Participants: Thank you Jenny!

James Jacobs -> All Participants: I want to keep my pointer on so that I can mark a random slide :-)

Jen Kirk -> All Participants: Welcome, Susan, Samantha, and Katie!

Jenny Groome -> All Participants: I lost count if Fall or Spring DLC. I am thankful DLC offered virtual years ago

Scott Briggs -> All Participants: I love that these have been virtual. As a staff member at our library, I would not have been able to attend an in-person conference.

Jen Kirk -> All Participants: Marking a random slide is a right of passage, James!

Jonathan Underwood -> All Participants: Can't hear anything

Charlie (she-her) Amiot -> All Participants: Try clicking the speaker underneath. I have sound.

Jonathan Underwood -> All Participants: I still don't hear anything.

Charlie (she-her) Amiot -> All Participants: If you click the left-side speaker, it mutes, clicking the right-side one unmutes, for me at least.

Jenny Groome -> All Participants: does someone have their microphone one? I'm hearing extra sounds

Charlie (she-her) Amiot -> All Participants: The dot in-between adjusts volume level.

Charlie (she-her) Amiot -> All Participants: No extra sounds on this end.

Charlie (she-her) Amiot -> All Participants: Yes, I hear clicking!

Jenny Groome -> All Participants: video has additional sound control. Maybe try that?

Sarah Erikson -> All Participants: Keeping America Informed is my favorite doc!

Jonathan Underwood -> All Participants: I tested the audio and I am hearing everything there just fine.

Mary Ellen Lomax-Bellare -> All Participants: video is not playing

Kristina Womack -> All Participants: working fine for me

Ben Webb -> All Participants: The difficulty of being a bibliophile: Having to concentrate on listening to the speaker on the video instead of concentrating on their voluminous bookshelves in order to read book titles Jenny Groome -> All Participants: Jim MascDonald, my first supervisor at Connecticut College #81 stressed the importance of FDLP's role in democracy. It stuck with me.

James Jacobs -> All Participants: Thank you Congressperson Lofgren for your inspirational words about the FDLP. I hope that more Congresspeople will support the work of the FDLP and GPO!

Jenny Groome -> All Participants: @Ben - yes!

Susan Ashby -> All Participants: It went in and out for me. I'll try later if it's available on line.

Jenny Groome -> All Participants: Thank you for having slides in advance! helps with accommodatin needs for many

Sarah Erikson -> All Participants: Any way to download conference bingo? I think I

Robin Sinn -> All Participants: I ignored the 'preconference' info, because of time and my experience with other preconferences being 'extra'. Maybe LSCM should have their own conference next year, instead of making it look like an add-on
